Orange County's World War I Veterans Roster

This list comes from a card index of Orange County citizens who served in World War I. The information was mainly collected in 1919, in anticipation of the Sept. 9, 1919 gathering of veterans at Orange County Park (now Irvine Regional Park). About 30,000 people attended the celebration.

Of the 1,649 service men and women listed below, some served abroad, while others served in military facilities within the United States. At least 55 gave their lives in the service of their country.

The index cards contain a great deal of information about some of these veterans, including their birthplace, residence, next of kin and service record. But there are many for whom we have little more than a name.
